

Youth Ministry as an Inclusive Relational Approach

Presented by the Centre for Contextual Ministry, University of Pretoria

Ministering to children and young people in the South and southern African societies is a real opportunity. The Youth Ministry as an Inclusive Relational Approach short course equips pastors and other youth leaders to provide an effective ministry to children, teenagers and young adults within the South and southern African context – as part of the local faith community. After completion of the course, successful leaders should be able to understand youth and family ministry.

Course content

- Theological departure points in youth ministry
- Family ministry
- Christian education in youth ministry
- Youth culture and ministry to adolescents
- Young ministry – Young adults and leadership in youth ministry

Learning outcomes

After successfully completing this course, you should be able to understand youth and family ministry and to give leadership in congregational and community involvement with families and youth themselves.

Who should enrol?

This course is ideal for leaders who are involved in youth ministry in local churches and in communities, and pastors and other leaders who have matriculated and have at least a two- or three year diploma or a degree in Theology.

Course fees

Course fees must be paid in full 14 days prior to course start dates. Proof of payment can be submitted to enrolments@enterprises.up.ac.za.
